Executive Director
Bihar Voluntary Health Association (BVHA)

Bihar Voluntary Health Association (BVHA) has been working since 1969 to improve the health and wellbeing of people in Bihar and Jharkhand. It was officially registered in 1970 under the Societies Registration Act of 1860. BVHA was started by Fr. James Stuart Tong SJ, the Medical Mission Sisters, and other social reformers who believed that everyone, especially the poor, should have access to basic healthcare.

Over the years, BVHA has grown into a strong network of 129 Civil Society Organizations (CSOs) and charitable healthcare providers, along with more than 200 partner organizations. This wide network helps BVHA reach people living in remote and underserved areas where health services are often limited or unavailable.

BVHA works on key issues like community health, nutrition, water and sanitation (WASH), HIV/AIDS, child protection, mental health, and livelihood support. The organization provides services through mobile health units, health check-ups, telemedicine, and emergency relief programs, bringing care directly to those who need it most.
